Simple tools that allow an incredible form of communication... A way to express yourself one cut at a time.

*Sessão 1 - Introduction to communication
Presentation of the project: "Round Table Discussion"*

Rubina

Today we reflected about communication and effective communication in our daily life, with real examples and how we manage to solve this kind of situations. We also had an introduction to mosaic workshop and practice, learning how to use the tools and mosaic techniques. It was very interesting.

At the first day we reflected about the importance of communication, specially in school context and the role of the teacher mediator of conflicts. The trainer made an introduction about mosaic and showed the tools and techniques. We had a individual work to learn the technique. We had a great day. Elisabete Madureira

Morning session was very important cause we get involved into effective communication. Analysis of communication skills & competences , with role-playing made us to reflect about the topic. In afternoon workshops we got deeper knowledge about mosaic history and get started with work pieces of final product. We were very excited practicing. Another great day.

Marco

Communicating with someone demands a lot of effort. Different persons from different countries and cultures will have different view points that influence the way they decode the message.

Sessão 7
Cross-cultural communication & miscommunication
Coating of the table

Rubina

Miscommunication in cross cultural exchanges and tips for cross cultural communication were the topics for today's session. It's very important to understand and reflect about it since we as a European school and individuals communicate with different nationalities, religions, gender, cultures, history backgrounds, etc. Collaborative work will be successful if we take this topic into account. We succeed!

Eisabete

Today we reflected about miscommunication in cross cultural exchanges. In these situations we feel the cultural barriers but we can make an effort to reduce these differences. We talked about some tips to help us to improve our cross-cultural communication skills.

Rubina

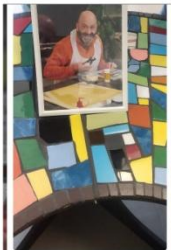

This course "Mosaic of communication" lead to a better understanding of effective communication in the European context; gave the opportunity to develop European collaborative work an to be involved in international and intercultural exchange. The methodology of creating a
